

Contents

Introduction

PART I: J. R. R. Tolkien

Chapter 1: J. R. R. T. Initiate of Old?

- Biographical Turning Points
- Art and Nature
- Language and Literature
- Imagination and Inspiration

Chapter 2: The Lord of the Rings: Overview and Themes

- Premises
- Book I: The First Journey
- Book II: The Journey of the Nine Companions
- Book III: The Treason of Isengard
- Book IV: The Journey of the Ring-Bearers
- Book V: The War of the Ring
- Book VI: The End of the Third Age

Chapter 3: Initiations into the Macrocosm and the Microcosm

- Gandalf and Saruman
- Frodo and Gollum

- Gandalf and Frodo: A Contrast
- Aragorn, Théoden, and Denethor
- Tolkien, an Old Initiate?
- About the Writing of The Lord of the Rings and Its Possible “Historicity”
- Atlantis/ Númenor

Chapter 4: Tolkien and Old Hibernia

- Hibernian Mysteries
- Individualities Having Undergone Hibernian Initiation
- How Does the Above Relate to Tolkien?

PART II: Owen Barfield

Chapter 5: Evolution of Consciousness and Imagination

- Childhood and Youth
- Approaching Anthroposophy and Evolving His Own Work
- Poetry and the Evolution of Consciousness
- Imagination
- Polarity

Chapter 6: Karmic Themes: the Paths Outward and Inward

- Karmic Connections: External Culture (C. S. Lewis and Tolkien)

- The Personal Barfield
- Integrating Path of the Senses (Macrocosm) and Path of the Soul (Microcosm)
- The Nature of True Knowledge at the Time of the Consciousness Soul

Chapter 7: Artistic Imaginations

- The Silver Trumpet
- The Rose on the Ash-Heap

Conclusions: Tolkien and Barfield: Comparison and Contrast

- Biographical Themes
- Microcosm and Macrocosm
- Imagination and Inspiration
- Relationship to the Christ
- A Literary Culmination and Its Importance for the West

Bibliography